

3rd Grade News

Week of March 8-12

A Peek at the Week

Math: This week, we will take our End of Module 6 assessment on graphing. We will begin Module 7 by working through word problems using different strategies. We will also be creating classroom discussions on problem solving. On Friday, we will begin classifying and comparing quadrilaterals.

Monday: End of Module 6 Assessment

Thursday: Topic A Quiz

Please have your child practice their multiplication flash cards for the facts 0-10.

CKLA Skills: This week, we will begin Unit 8. Our new Reader is called Native American Stories, which contains historical fiction stories. We will learn about plural possessive nouns, as well as possessive pronouns. The spelling words this week will have the schwa sound spelled as an 'a' and 'e'. The spelling test will be on Friday.

CKLA Listening and Learning: This week, we will start a new domain called Native Americans: Regions and Cultures. We will listen and learn about how Native Americans spread out across North and South America in search of food, which led to different languages and cultures. We will also learn about Native Americans in the Mississippi River area, as well as those in the southwest.

Important Updates

March Reading Calendars:

3rd graders are assigned 30 minutes of reading every night for homework. After your child reads, please initial or sign their reading calendar and write the number of minutes that they read on the picture of the book.

3rd Quarter Benchmarks:

We are quickly approaching the end of the quarter! We will take our last math and reading benchmark tests in March. The math benchmark will be on Tuesday, March 23. The reading benchmark will be on Wednesday, March 24. Both tests will start at 8:00 a.m.

Important Dates

Mar. 23 -- Math Benchmark Test

Mar. 24 -- Reading Benchmark Test

Mar. 29-Apr.5 -- Spring Break

Parent Tips

- Download a multiplication app or go to multiplication.com OR timestables.com to practice multiplication facts at home.
- You can give your child a "Spelling Test" the night before the test to see if they can spell the words without looking at them. Practice any words that are misspelled.
