- mid-year data-- we did a major weeding out of titles; average age of our books is now 2013 which is really good; we are back to 11 items per student; 15 is the minimum-- this takes time after weeding; our print to digital percentage is lower, but our students don't really use the digital like that; fiction and non fiction is pretty balanced; need to get our computer science and technology and science books 5 years or newer; computer science is 2019 but the other is 2013; collection plan will involve getting more books that are more current information; diversity is 33% which is higher compared to other schools-- want to get up to 50% as a whole-- aiming to have a better range of diverse books; average age level of books is 2nd grade-- need to increase our 4th and 5th grade reading level books

- Sustained reading-- discussed helping students have more practice with sustained reading; after break will work on doing a sustained reading 1 time a week with 3rd-5th; Gilyard requested doing it with 2nd also; Pence mentioned doing more games that help them look at the books more in K/1; Parker requested more time in the books, too, for 1st. Pence said she will do with all, and next year will start at the start.
- collection development plan
