Clue
Criterion	Mark	Comment
A	2	Readable, with an interesting introduction, developed with some logic in the structure but a few ideas out of place. Big jump from first round to finding the murderer. Appropriate citations
B	1	Independent events defined but not where required; appropriate language regarding probability; no free diagrams There is some appropriate presentation but not mostly appropriate. Little mathematical representation.
C	2	The work indicates the student's ownership of the exploration but limited to "one hand" of cards; example used well enough but not extended.
D	1	Limited reflection - see last paragraph (p5/6)
E	4	Understanding demonstrated in development of probabilities but limited to simple applications, e.g., conditional probability not attempted. Little analysis of the general game.
